Learning Outcomes

Daily writers with real material

Students build a writer's notebook, a daily ritual, and a Story Bank of real moments, learning that craft begins long before a complete story does

Vivid and figurative stylists

Students replace vague language with sensory detail and use simile, metaphor, personification, and hyperbole to make their writing memorable, surprising, and stylistically alive

Story-shape architects

Students shape a story with a seven-sentence spine, three acts, an inciting incident, a climax, and a named ending type that lands

Tension and stakes builders

Students name conflict types and stakes, escalate tension across four beats, and plant foreshadowing details that pay off at the climax of their stories

Worldbuilders for real and invented places

Students build settings that feel real through sensory detail, character-shaping influence, named world rules, and a deliberate threshold-crossing moment in their writing

Psychology behind this curriculum

Creative writing and storytelling nurture a child's ability to express themselves with clarity, imagination, and emotional intelligence. With guided practice, students learn to observe the world thoughtfully, listen with curiosity, and shape their thoughts into stories that connect with others.

The programme strengthens everyday expression by helping children articulate their ideas, understand others' perspectives, and craft narratives that travel from page to reader. As they grow more assured in how they write and revise, children naturally develop stronger voice, improved focus, and a more confident creative practice in school and beyond.

Our teachers provide individual attention to students, guide them through personalised creative writing tasks, and help them develop clear writing craft, enabling them to express themselves confidently and perform better across all subjects in school.

STEAM
